Trinity Sells Its Advanced Pricing Application to Microsoft Great Plains Business Solutions

Trinity Computer Services Ltd today announced the sale of its Myridas™ Advanced Pricing application to Microsoft Great Plains Business Solutions, a division of Microsoft Corp. The sale involves the transfer of all intellectual property rights relating to the Advanced Pricing application. Microsoft Great Plains will include the Advanced Pricing functionality as an add-on application to its eEnterprise Inventory Control application within the Distribution Series.

Advanced Pricing was developed by Trinity to provide a pricing management solution that enables businesses to build structured pricing models that are also easy to maintain. Key features include the ability to offer multiple price lists, easily change prices and offer date sensitive pricing as well as customer unique pricing.

“The sale of the Advanced Pricing application is a very significant development for Trinity, reflecting the quality of our design and development skills,” explained Carl Bolus, Trinity’s Sales and Marketing Director.

“Advanced Pricing is just one of the Myridas™ modules that we have created to provide additional distribution capability for eEnterprise and Dynamics. With this boost, we’re looking forward to continuing to develop the channel for our other Myridas™ applications.”

Other software in the Myridas™ suite includes Delivery Logistics, Call Scheduling, Vehicle Load Scheduling and Available to Promise applications. These applications are fully integrated with eEnterprise and Dynamics. Additional information is available at www.trinitycomputers.co.uk.
